

Time lapse video of George W. Bush Library construction

April 25, 2013 By George Talbot

DALLAS - The George W. Bush Presidential Library and Museum was dedicated on the campus of Southern Methodist University today in a ceremony attended by President Barack Obama and former presidents Bush, Bill Clinton, George H.W. Bush and Jimmy Carter.

The two-year construction process was documented by EarthCam Inc., which said it captured more than 156,000 high-definition images and processed them into a single, 2-minute time lapse video.

