Anyone can go to San Francisco for the big game

Friday, Feb 5, 2016 9:23 AM

Since San Francisco is hosting Super Bowl 50, the city will be the place to be this Sunday, but don't worry if you can't make it. EarthCam can take you to the city with "its newest live streaming webcam."

EarthCam gives you a virtual tour of the city. "Not only can you see the dynamic city skyline from this perspective, but it's also the perfect way to experience the breathtaking sunrises over the waterfront," said in a news release.

Visit the live webcam to view the city on Super Bowl Sunday.
