

BRESLANTA

Watch Mercedes-Benz Stadium come together in this wonderful video by EarthCam

Sean Breslin October 26, 2016 - Atlanta, Football, News, Sports

Mercedes-Benz Stadium has been looking grand for the past couple of months, and recently, EarthCam released a short, beautiful time-lapse video to show all the progress happening at the new home of the Atlanta Falcons.

The video gives us a look at all the progress that's been made from groundbreaking to just a few days ago. It shows the cranes slowly being surrounded by all the concrete and steel as the skeleton is constructed. Then, the steel is added for the exterior and that all-important retractable roof.

(Also read: Atlanta gets impressive marks in this WalletHub study)

I was at the Georgia Dome over the weekend, and while there's still much work to be done, Mercedes-Benz Stadium is starting to look like the masterpiece Arthur Blank and his team dreamed up.

Check out the video below.