

Zoo Atlanta: Panda twins expected to make their debut fall 2013

Posted: Jul 10, 2013 10:27 AM EST Updated: Aug 07, 2013 10:27 AM EST

By Mandi Milligan - email

By Jennifer Banks - email

ATLANTA (CBS ATLANTA) -

Lun Lun Zoo Atlanta's panda gave birth to twins on Monday just before 6:30 p.m.

The twin brothers, who are being rotated between time spent with Lun Lun and care from the Animal Management and Veterinary Teams, appear to be healthy and are doing well with their new regimen, according to Keisha N. Hines Director of Public Relations for Zoo Atlanta.

The cubs are expected to make their debut sometime this fall.

Hines tells CBS Atlanta News that the next few days are especially critical. Stay with CBSAtlanta.com for updates.

You can watch Lun Lun and her cubs via PandaCam presented by EarthCam. The live feed will run 24 hours a day.

