

WATCH: Cubs win World Series and fans outside Wrigley Field lose their minds

It was pure madness outside of Wrigley Field after the final out by Igor Mello Nov 03, 2016 • 1 min read

After 108 years of waiting, and a roller coaster Game 7 that went to extras and included a rain delay, the Cubs are your 2016 World Series champs. The Cubs stormed back from a 3-1 series deficit to beat the Indians 8-7 in 10 innings on Wednesday night/Thursday morning.

As you can imagine, the Wrigley faithful erupted at the final out. Here's the play that busted the slump.

And here's the crowd exploding with joy outside of Wrigley Field to celebrate that final out (H/T to Earthcam).

Pure madness. Enjoy it, Cubs fans.