

24x New Year's Eve in the Livestream: The most beautiful fireworks in the world

31.12.2016, 13:30 | By Michael Humpa, Matthias Becker

2016 is almost over and the whole world is celebrating the turn of the year. But how exactly? With the live stream of the web app EarthCam you can see fireworks around the world.

New Year's Eve in the Live-Stream: So the world celebrates the year 2017

Kiribati is the first country to go, the American Samoa is only a few kilometers away. But the whole world is celebrating the year's change. With the web app EarthCam, you will be able to experience the world in 2017 by means of a live stream.

The biggest parties and the most beautiful fireworks are held in the metropolises. So you should not miss the pyro spectacle in Sydney. The rockets at the famous Harbor Bridge start at 2 pm CET, ten hours before our New Year's Eve.

This year again, the fireworks display will be in the center of Hong Kong, where we will start at 5 pm CET. From Germany, the pictures will be the first to try out the latest photo offers at Pixum! From Berlin around the world.

If you do not have enough, we recommend taking a look to London (01h CET), Rio de Janeiro (03h CET) and New York. At 6 o'clock in the German time millions are celebrating between the famous illuminated billboards in Manhattan - and you can be there live via webcam.

German translated using Google Translate.