

The Cherry Blossom Cam is Up and Running

Julia Arciga 04/07/15

The beauty of D.C.'s world famous cherry blossoms are now available 24/7 from your computer screen.

The National Park Service and EarthCam's Cherry Blossom Cam went live Tuesday morning, allowing those far away and locals who want to avoid the crowds to still enjoy the blossoms throughout the season.

The livestream camera shows the majesty of the Tidal Basin's cherry blossoms, occasionally panning and zooming to give you different angles.

You can take a look here.

