

Time Lapse Of 9/11 Memorial Museum Shows The Site's Incredible Transformation

World • Sean Levinson • May 16, 2014 - 2:00pm

This video shows the transformation of ground zero into the stunning 9/11 Memorial Museum over the course of 4,617 days.

EarthCam CEO and founder Brian Cury wrote on YouTube that his team installed several cameras to document the rebuilding of the site just days after the fall of the World Trade Center.

EarthCam's editors chose from over 1 million images to create this two-and-a-half minute clip, which tracks the unrivaled pace it took construction workers to create the memorial in just over 10 years.

