

The Friends of Algonquin Park works with EarthCam to share live views of Algonquin Park

By Gulli Arnason · Air and Travel
23 January 2014

Non-profit Canadian registered charity The Friends of Algonquin Park and EarthCam said they have partnered to share live streaming video, panorama, and archived imagery of scenic Algonquin Park.

“We know that people from around the world recognize that Algonquin Park is a place to be treasured. For most visitors, they can't be here as much as they would like, so the new partnership with EarthCam allows them to see Algonquin Park in real-time. This opportunity was possible through the innovations of EarthCam and a generous sponsorship by the Couples Resort, a five-star luxury resort outside the East Gate of the Park” said Lee Pauzé, general manager, The Friends of Algonquin Park.

Enjoy the views from the Algonquin Park Visitor Centre at www.algonquinpark.on.ca/webcam

The Friends of Algonquin Park is a Canadian registered charity and non-profit, non-governmental organization established in 1983 for people passionate about Algonquin Park. It operates retail locations, recruits members, and fundraises to support the natural and cultural educational goals of Algonquin Park. For more about The Friends of Algonquin Park, visit www.algonquinpark.on.ca

