

Watch North America's Tallest Hotel Top Out in Under a Minute

January 10, 2014

Now that you've had a peek at what's inside the new Courtyard by Marriott and Residence Inn Central Park (aka the tallest hotel in North America), here's a snappy little video from EarthCam who worked with G Holdings to document the construction process with an HD megapixel webcam.

The video squeezes several years of construction work into a little under a minute, depicting the hotel rise 68 stories above the streets of New York City and blossom into the shiny new glass-fronted beauty that opened for business just last Tuesday.

We're looking forward to checking out those birds eye views for ourselves, and are putting it on the list of potential NYE 2014 venues.

Photo: Courtyard by Marriott/Video: [EarthCam]

