

Artist Andy Warhol's tomb will be broadcast via Live Streaming 24/7

By Bayu Galina

Posted : 08.06.2013 13:24

Today is the birthday of Andy Warhol, an artist who is known as one of the pioneers of pop art . To commemorate 85 years of the birth of the eccentric artist , Andy Warhol Museum was unveiled live via streaming internet that can be accessed 24 hours a day , 7 days per week.

Reporting from the pages of The Verge , Tuesday ( 08/06/2013), Andy Warhol's grave is located in his hometown of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania . Tomb of Andy Warhol certainly be one of the tourist sites of pilgrimage for art lovers .

His grave was often a place of inspiration for other artists . Sure hope they can get an idea as when Warhol created paintings of Campbell's soup cans or bottles of Coca - Cola became a popular and valuable works .

The project is a collaboration with the webcam network EarthCam live broadcast . This broadcast is called Figment . This name refers to one of Warhol 's famous quote spoken :

"I always thought I'd like my own tombstone to be blank . No. Epitaph and no name . Well , actually , I'd like it to say ' figment ' , " said Andy .

( I always thought I would like a plain headstone . Without writing and without a name . I would be happy to call it ' figment ' [ not real ])

" Figment is a fantastic way to put Andy on the air 24/7 and broadcast it to our global audience , " said Director of the Andy Warhol Museum , Eric Shiner . " We believe it would be nice if Warhol knew that he was still connected and turned on after 25 years after his death , " he continued .

Not only that , Andy Warhol 's funeral procession on February 22, 1987 is a unique take . Because the friend Paige Powell had put the magazine Interview , Interview t-shirt , and a bottle of Estee Lauder perfume series " Beautiful " into the grave with the coffin. ( gal )

Indonesian article translated using Google Translate.

