

VIDEO: Watch The Metrodome Deflate Saturday Morning

The deflation paves the way for the new Vikings stadium.

Posted by James Warden (Editor) , January 18, 2014 at 11:10 AM

Officials started deflating the Metrodome at 7:15 a.m. Saturday morning. Thirty-five minutes later, the dome had collapsed to rise no more. The stadium will eventually be demolished and replaced with a $1 billion new stadium.

Check out time-lapse video of the dome deflation above, courtesy of EarthCam, and then share your favorite memories of the stadium in the comments section below.

The screenshot shows the YouTube channel page for EarthCam. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'Home', 'Feed', 'Videos', 'Playlists', 'Discussion', 'About', and a search icon. Below this is a banner for 'The Official EarthCam Channel' with a 'Subscribe' button showing 9,888 subscribers. The main video player displays a time-lapse video titled 'THE METRODOME: THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES! 1982-2014' by EarthCam. The video shows an aerial view of the Metrodome stadium in Minneapolis, Minnesota, surrounded by the city skyline. Below the video player, there's a grid of four recommended videos:

- Minnesota Vikings Stadium Roof Deflation Time-Lapse by earthcam, 119,577 views, 1 week ago
- Official One World Trade Center Time-Lapse 2004-2013 by earthcam, 2,546,574 views, 4 months ago
- Official Barclays Center Time-Lapse by earthcam, 83,687 views, 1 year ago
- Official Duke Medicine Time-Lapse by earthcam, 8,216 views, 10 months ago

On the right side of the page, there's a sidebar with a list of videos under the heading 'Official'. The first video in the list is 'Minnesota Vikings Stadium Roof Deflation Time-Lapse' by earthcam, which is the same video as the one in the main player.