

Watch Ultra Music Festival 2013 on EarthCam

by Scott Shetler March 13, 2013 5:41 PM

Can't be in Miami for the 2013 Ultra Music Festival this weekend and next? Don't worry — you can still attend the EDM-centric party through your computer, thanks to EarthCam's aerial view.

EarthCam has a camera pointed at Bayfront Park in downtown Miami, where the action begins this Friday, March 15. Viewers will be able to take in a bird's eye view of the festival and see the fans as they arrive and the light shows of the major artists.

Ultra 2013 takes place over two weekends, March 15-17 and 22-24, and features the final live performances ever from Swedish House Mafia, plus sets from a host of electronic, hip-hop and pop acts, including Calvin Harris, Snoop Dogg, David Guetta, Kaskade, Deadmau5, Azealia Banks, Afrojack, Matt and Kim, and dozens more.

This year marks Ultra's 15th anniversary. For more festival info, check out PopCrush's list of Must-See Artists at the Ultra Music Festival and our Ultra survival guide describing everything that festivals attendees will need to take.

