

EarthCam to provide a time-lapse view of George W. Bush Presidential Center

Apr 23, 2013, 3:44pm CDT Tricia Lynn Silva

Hackensack, N.J.-based EarthCam Inc. is celebrating the premiere of a rare view of the George W. Bush Presidential Center — a ground-up view, so to speak.

The company has created a time-lapse movie of the construction of the Bush Presidential Center — which is located on 23 acres of land on the campus of Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

EarthCam documented the 27-month project — capturing more than 156,000 images and crafting those images into a two-minute time-lapse video, complete with thematic music.

The Bush Presidential Center will be dedicated on April 25. It will house the George W. Bush Presidential Library and Museum; the George W. Bush Institute, a public-policy think tank; and the George W. Bush Foundation, the nonprofit that supports the library and museum.

Among EarthCam's previous projects — the Flight 93 Memorial Cam, which delivers live views of the Flight 93 National Memorial in Shanksville, Penn.

On the web: georgewbushlibrary.smu.edu

