

Amazing time-lapse images of One World Trade Center construction released (VIDEO)

Wednesday, September 11, 2013 11:21 am

Staff Reports

To honor the events of September 11, the makers of EarthCam have shared their new commemorative time-lapse, a special movie highlighting the progress at the site of the fallen World Trade Centers in New York City. The video includes the rise of One World Trade Center, from Oct. 2004 to Sept. 2013.

EarthCam has been proudly providing reliable webcam documentation of the rescue, recovery and rebirth of the World Trade Center site since 2001, according to a company press release.

“It has been an effort for our company to engineer, install, maintain and provide our best technology and donate these images and time-lapse movies to the National September 11 Memorial & Museum for generations to come to remember and honor those we lost,” it stated.

