News · wow · March 30th, 2015

Why do time lapses rule so much? I'll tell you why, because it shows the sheer man (and woman) power that goes into erecting monumental structures all in the time you sip 20mls of your hot ass tea.

In this case, the video is of Ultra Music Festival's main stage at Miami's Bayfront Park. With an ample number of huge screens creating the setting for an epic 3 day event, it's insane to see this electronic beast come to life!

The video was taken by series of shots on 'earthcam' that shows a semi birds eye view shot of it all coming together. After seeing this cool little video, you should check our 5 defining moments in Miami's dance music scene!
