

SFMOMA goes up in record time, courtesy of EarthCam's video cam

Posted, 2016-05-08

The public can't get enough of SFMOMA, San Francisco's new museum. With six floors of art, an earth wall, a cafe and sculpture gardens, it's the biggest, most expensive playground for art in the the Bay Area. Not all critics have applauded

"a giant meringue with a hint of Ikea."