The new George W. Bush Presidential Center will be dedicated Thursday and it's expected to be a large affair.

All five living presidents, former Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice, and former Defense Secretary Colin Powell are all scheduled to attend.

Another person who scored an invite: the producer of the documentary, "George W. Bush: Faith in the White House" from 2004.

YNN will be at the dedication to bring you all the events. Our coverage starts Wednesday.
