

Time-lapse of the reconstruction of the place where they were the Twin Towers of New York

Thursday September 11, 2014 | 17:02

A camera recorded for nine years the cleanup and construction of buildings set in the Ground Zero in Manhattan after the attacks of 13 years ago

Thirteen years have passed since the attacks with planes 11 / September 2001, when the United States was under terrorist attack by the criminal organization Al-Qaeda.

Site EarthCam cameras recorded from October 2004 to September 2013 the construction of the National September 11 Memorial Plaza, which opened in 2011 where the collapsed Twin Towers rose.

Through a time-lapse of two minutes, the video shows in detail how was the rebuilding of the World Trade Center, where today the reminder to more than 3,000 victims in New York memorial is located.

Spanish translated using google translate.

